

Rotational Grazing Workshop

Lewis Kahn - AIMS

Stanthorpe - Thursday 16th February 2012

Agricultural Information & Monitoring Services was formed by Judi and Lewis in 1998 to provide an evidence-based consultancy to graziers to improve the profitability and health of grazing businesses. AIMS works with the concept of understanding agricultural ecosystems and relies on sound underlying principles rather than particular recipes. AIMS has worked with graziers in the north-west slopes, northern tablelands and northern rivers of NSW and the mid-north and northern agricultural districts of South Australia.
